GOLF HOLIDAYS 2007-2008

TOBIANO KAMLOOPS, BRITISH COLUMBIA

Set upon the rolling bluffs and canyon-cut ravines overlooking spectacular Kamloops Lake, Tobiano captures the essence of BC's scenic Thompson-Okanagan golf region. Blessed with more than 2,000 hours of sunshine and less than 10 inches of rain each year, the semi-desert climate sustains rolling hills of grasslands, wild sagebrush, ponderosa pine and prickly pear cactus – a vivid contrast to Tobiano's large white sand bunkers and wide lush bent grass fairways, tees and greens.

Designed by Tom McBroom, Canada's premier golf architect, Tobiano is a par 72, 18-hole championship resort course playing 7,328 yards from the pro tees. A Nevada-style front nine, complete with arid clay bank dunes and benches, blends perfectly with a ranch-style back nine, rising across ravines, bluffs and "sentinel hoodoos". An extensive 15-acre on-site practice academy offers a double-ended range, two putting areas, and a chipping area with practice bunkers, allowing golfers of every capability an opportunity to refine their game in a dramatic lake-view setting.

State-of-the-art irrigation systems and an extensive maintenance facility have allowed Tobiano to grow in at a remarkable pace, with the course opening in June 2007. A clubhouse featuring wood and stone elements exude warmth and comfort while a large outdoor patio offers the perfect spot to relax after the round is complete. Restaurant, lounge facilities and a proshop featuring an array of soft goods completes this wonderful new and exciting facility.

Jenahura Notes: First to preview the course shortly after it's opening, Tobiano is destined to become one of the very finest courses on our roster. It is a truly outstanding big course, though very playable, with the course running along 6 miles of lakefront just west of Kamloops. This is Big Country too, and the resort owns an additional 12,000 acres above the course which forms a wild and beautiful backdrop to this outstanding new creation, likely to make Canada's Top 25.
